CZAR'S SURGEON DIES

THROUGH NEGLECT IN AN INSANE ASYLUM.

Spent His Entire Fortune in Assisting the Poor of His Town.

(Correspondence of Associated Press.)

ST. PETERSBURG, June 10.—A great local sensation has been caused here by the death under distressing circumstances of Dr. Nicholas I. Dvorashin, the physician who rendered first assistance to the wounded Czar Alexander II. Dr. Dvorashin possessed brilliant attainments and a high education, was a pioneer in some branches of medical practice and a creditable amateur painter and musician, withal, a model of physical strength, beauty and personal charms. He happened to be in the office of the general staff which faces the palace square when the wounded czar reached the palace where the physician rendered the first medical assistance. For this and in recognition of his services as a military surgeon, a pension of $15 a month was granted Dr. Dvorashin, when a few years ago his once brilliant mind became clouded. His derangement was scarcely more than a mania for bestowing charity. Unlabeled watched by his mother, by adoption, an English woman by birth, he would give away all his money or spend his last coin purchasing supplies for the poor, which he would distribute with his own hands. He has long ago dissipated in this manner his hereditary or acquired property having found various night shelters, benevolent workhouses and the like. In spite of the watchful care of his mother he fell into the hands of the police on several occasions and was taken to a local insane asylum, but each time she managed to secure his release.

About three weeks ago he frightened some elderly nuns though a harmless but misdirected attempt at charity. A crowd of peasants attracted by the cries of the alarmed women believed he had profaned holy pictures and began beating him. The physician defended himself vigorously and became momentarily violently insane. He was taken to the insane asylum as before, but this time he was not released. The hospital in which he was confined was constructed for the use of only 200 persons, but at the time of the doctor's detention there it was occupied by over 1500 inmates. Owing perhaps to the foul air or for sleeping on a miserable pile of straw Dr. Dvorashin was soon suffering from influenza. His mother visited him three hours daily, but other attendance there was none, according to her account.

In short, the unfortunate man who entered the hospital robust and physically sound, was soon reduced to helplessness. Unable to eat the coarse food sent from the hospital kitchen or to help himself with the things his mother would leave after her three hours' stay was ended, he died after 17 days of suffering. Charges were immediately preferred against the hospital management and an autopsy was ordered by Prince Constantin Galitzin. Prince Galitzin and the victim's mother who lives about three hours' ride from the hospital, were invited, the former to be present at 4 a. m. and the latter at 7 a. m. with physicians of their own selection at the autopsy which took place at 9 a. m. Naturally they had not time to find medical men to accompany them and the hospital physicians and a doctor invited by the physician in charge, who conducted the autopsy, exculpated the management. The gravest charges, however, are made against the officials in the hospital. Dr. Dvorashin's mother and others report that there were dreadful bruises upon the body and head of the dead physician. This hospital has long been in bad repute. Dr. Dvorashin's father, by adoption,

Alexander Ivanovitch Evropeus, was a noted man in his day and was the first writer who seriously attacked the problem of emancipation and political reform under Czar Nicholas I. He was banished to Caucasus whither his sweetheart was encouraged by the then heir apparent, the Czaritch Alexander, to follow him there and they were married. Upon his accession Alexander II. immediately recalled the exile.

KNAPPA NOTES.

Mrs. Banks is quite ill.
Miss Bertha Moody has returned home from school in Astoria.

There are to be two weddings in Knappa within a week, says dame rumor.

Mrs. Robt. Coulter, who was on a visit to her mother last week, went home to Astoria, sick.

There is some talk of a picnic here on the Fourth for the benefit of those who cannot go away to celebrate.

Mrs. Radcliffe received several nice presents from her young friends on her birthday. The young folks all love Mrs. R. who is always ready to help them have a good time.

That strong east wind last week rattled the photo tent, which our teacher T. O. Hutchinson had just set up preparatory to taking a few pictures. It will soon be mended and put up again.

Mr. Johnin was made happy Saturday evening by the return of his wife and young son Ray, from Portland where Ray has been under treatment since February 10th, for epilepsy. He is somewhat improved, but not well yet. Life on the farm and exercise on his new rubber tire tricycle will no doubt further improve his health.

Mrs. Crow was obliged to dismiss two of her large pupils last week for willful insubordination, fostered in the case of one, a young lady, by her father, who instructed her to break a certain rule of the school whenever she pleased. How sad! Parents mislead their children when they encourage them in wrong doing, as it invariably results in future sorrow to the child and detriment to the community in which they live.

The ice cream and strawberry festival given by the ladies of the Presbyterian church last Wednesday was quite a success, the clear profits being over $20. Numbers were distributed to the ladies and like numbers to the gentlemen. Each gentleman then bought the lady having his number and treated her to refreshments, after which they selected other fair ones and a general good time resulted. Even the little boys proved themselves regular gallants.

MISS DOCTOR FOUND IN 'FRISCO.
Disappeared Last August and Not Heard From Until News of His Sickness.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Word has just been received of the whereabouts of Dr. George H. Craft, of Newark, N. J., who strangely disappeared last April, says a Geneva, New York, special to the Times.

His wife received a letter from San Francisco, where the doctor says he is in a hospital, recovering from typhoid fever. The physician left his home in Newark April 19, to find his father, who had wandered away from home. The elder Craft was found and later the son disappeared. He was heard from last at Sandusky, Ohio. The police of the Western cities were asked to search for him, but no trace was found. The letter says the writer cannot explain how he reached San Francisco.

INJURED WHILE RIDING.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Mrs. W. Seaward Webb, daughter of the late Wm. H. Vanderbilt, has been severely injured by a fall from her horse, says a Burlington, Vermont, dispatch to the world. The animal shied while Mrs. Webb was riding near Shelburne farm with a party of friends. The rider was thrown to the ground and was unconscious several hours. After an examination, doctors from Burlington announced that the injuries were not serious, although Mrs. Webb will be confined to the house for some time, and will suffer severely.

KILLED AT FUNERAL SERVICE.

MADRID, June 24.—While the funeral of a Spaniard was being held at the church of Platero, in the Province of Orense today, the building was struck by lightning, as a result of which 25 people were killed and 35 injured.

IMPLICATED IN MURDER

WITNESSED THE SLAYING OF NORA FULLER.

Prisoner Says Number of Prominent People Are Implicated.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—A special to the Examiner from Seldro-Woolley, Wash., says that a man confessing to be one of Nora Fuller's murderers, has surrendered himself to the city marshal. He claims to be John Bennett, for whom the police have been searching for several months. Bennett arrived in that city Sunday, and yesterday, after playing several card games in a saloon, made the astonishing announcement that he was a fugitive from justice, accused of having slain Nora Fuller in the lonely house of Sutter street. He said he had been so hounded and hunted and has been in such distress of mind the last few months, that he could stand the strain of silence no longer and asked the proprietor to notify the city authorities that he wished to give himself up. In an interview at the jail Bennett is alleged to have said that he resolved to tell the whole story, implicating some of the most prominent men in San Francisco. He particularly mentioned a physician who stands at the top of his profession in that city. He acknowledged that he was mixed up in the affair at first, but claims that he was not the real murderer. He says that when he tells the story before the proper court it will stir San Francisco from center to circumference.

He has been supplied with money to aid in evading the officers of the law until the past month, when the financial supplies ceased. He notified the parties for whom he was acting the scapegoat, that if his wants were not immediately satisfied he would give everything away. Bennett says Nora Fuller went with him to the Sutter-street house of her own free will.

"I have asked your officers to tell the San Francisco police to come after me, but you mark my word, there will be thousands of dollars spent to prevent me going back," said Bennett. "I am a printer and perfectly sane and sober. Do you think I would voluntarily surrender myself if my neck was in danger? I have here letters in my pockets showing where the real culprits have sent me money to keep me away, but when they have neglected me it gives me the excuse to do the awful fear and suspense to which I have been subjected and I'm glad of it. I will probably now get a good night's rest, the first in months," continued Bennett. "For the last 60 days I have been rusticated in one of the islands of Puget Sound, and previous to that was kept busy dodging about on trains and ocean steamers. I tell you, my confession will be the talk of the civilized world."

The alleged Bennett answers perfectly the description of the supposed murderer.

DISCUSSION OF SAILORS.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The cabinet today had a protracted discussion of the Italian incident, in which the officers of the Chicago figured. The result of the discussion was an agreement that publicity of the proceedings of the investigation occurred through the postings of findings on board the ship.

A GLORIOUS FOURTH.

On the Fourth of July every true patriot will celebrate the signing of the Declaration of Independence by the Colonists, and although the struggle which followed was both costly and disastrous, yet it resulted in the their ultimate freedom from the yoke of English bondage. Another very important day in the life of anyone, especially those suffering from a weak or disordered stomach, will be the one on which they decide to give up old methods of trying to obtain relief and commence the use of that famous twentieth century family medicine, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It will cure anyone suffering from dyspepsia, indigestion, belching, constipation, biliousness or insomnia. Try it today and be convinced. Our Private Stamp is over the neck of the bottle.

Rheumatism

The liniment bottle and flannel strip are familiar objects in nearly every household. They are the weapons that have been used for generations to fight old Rheumatism, and are about as effective in the battle with this giant disease as the blunderbuss of our forefathers would be in modern warfare.

Rheumatism is caused by an acid, sour condition of the blood. It is filled with acid, irritating matter that settles in the joints, muscles and nerves, and liniments and oils do nothing else applied externally can dislodge these gritty, corroding particles. They were deposited there by the blood and can be reached only through the blood. Rubbing with liniments sometimes relieve temporarily the aches and pains, but these are only symptoms which are liable to return with every change of the weather; the real disease lies deeper, the blood and system are infected. Rheumatism cannot be radically and permanently cured until the blood has been purified, and no remedy does this so thoroughly and promptly as S. S. S. It neutralizes the acids and sends a stream of rich, strong blood to the affected parts, which dissolves and washes out all foreign materials, and the sufferer obtains happy relief from the torturing pains. S. S. S. contains no potash or other mineral, but is a perfect vegetable blood purifier and most exhilarating tonic. Our physicians will advise, without charge, all who write about their case, and we will send free our special book on Rheumatism and its treatment.
